International Economic Law and International Relations Cell (IEL& IRC) - Call for Student-Volunteers

Greetings of the Day

The University School of Law and Legal Studies is delighted to announce the constitution of the 'International Economic Law and International Relations Cell' (IEL&IRC). The Cell is established with the objective of promoting academic and scholarly discussions in the emerging areas of International Economic Law and International Relations. It also aims to generate interests among the students of University Schools of Studies in the issues of global economic matters and international relations.

IEL&IRC invites student-volunteers for various kinds of activities and programmes proposed to be organized by it in the Academic Session 2022-23. Interested students of USS may fill up Google form in the link here in provided and submit the application on or before 28th September, 2022.
