

The University School of Biotechnology (USBT), GGSIPU, organized the Dr. Yellapragada Subbarow Memorial Lecture on 24th January 2025. This annual lecture commemorates the outstanding contributions of Dr. Yellapragada Subbarow to science and his role as a pioneer in the field of medical and biochemical research. Over 100 participants, including undergraduate, postgraduate, and Ph.D. students, along with professors from USBT, attended the event.

The Dr. Yellapragada Subbarow Memorial Lecture proved to be an enlightening and enriching experience for all attendees. It highlighted the significance of interdisciplinary research and innovation in the field of biotechnology. The engaging lecture by Prof. Debasisa Mohanty inspired students and faculty alike to delve deeper into the realm of scientific discovery and innovation.

Such events continue to strengthen the academic culture at USBT, fostering an environment of curiosity and learning.
