Subject: Report on Design Workshop on "LetterForms to Forms: The Story of the History of Writing Systems" conducted at ICDHS14 Cultures of International Conference | Date: 10 October 2025 | Time: 16:30 | Venue: Department of Design, ACW, IIT Delhi

Name of the Event/Activity:	Design Workshop on "LetterForms to Forms: The Story of the History of Writing Systems" at ICDHS14, Dept. of Design, IIT Delhi
Dates	10.10.2025	No. of Participation	30
Faculty Coordinator	Dr. Nanki Nath
Brief Description of the Activity:	The workshop explored the evolution of the Roman alphabet, tracing its origins from the Phoenician and Greek scripts to Roman letterforms that shaped Western writing. Aimed to help participants understand the geometric construction and artistic logic of Roman typography through visual and hands-on learning. 90-minute workshop had two parts: an Interactive Session Presentation (20 minutes) with panels, discussions, and a quiz, followed by a Core Group Design Activity where participants work in small groups to merge four Roman letterforms into thematic compositions or motifs reflecting historical metaphors. By creating and presenting their "Letterform to Form" compositions with supporting concept notes, participants gained a visual and conceptual appreciation of typographic heritage & learned to treat type as a medium of expression & meaning in design.
